"REAC's service is impeccable. There is no question too large or too ridiculous to answer. Any problems we've had have been addressed immediately and with a professional attitude." Chris Stropes, Alliance Steel

"REAC has always been there to help when needed, even weekends. They listen to your questions and try to provide options. Plus, they will not leave you in the lurch—if something doesn't work right, they make it right. I recommend REAC all the time."

Tom Bregmann

"REAC is very responsive and competent in the areas of networking, equipment configuration, software enhancement, trouble shooting, systems design and systems operation. They've often shown us ways to save money that we wouldn't have found, and they've help reduce our costs by more than 75% through their expert ability and customer sensitivity."

Sound Advice Personal Service Customized Solutions

Today, more than ever, the right technology can give you a competitive edge in the marketplace and can increase productivity company-wide. So, to reduce problems and downtime, it's important to work with the right computer and network specialists.

At REAC, we have the knowledge and expertise to assess your needs, analyze your system and provide integrated solutions that really work for you.

Whether you want to network two computers or hundreds in multiple locations, we have the knowledge and experience to design and install a system just for you. We implement solutions for today that support your changing needs as your company grows.

We help you choose the right technology then customize your system to support your business plans, budgets and time lines. We're business partners with major manufacturers: 3Com, Aopen, Cisco Systems, Compaq, Intel, Hewlett Packard, Multi-Tech, Okidata, Seagate, Veritas, Western Digital, and many more. You get reliable, dependable installations, service, maintenance and support from highly trained and certified hardware and software specialists.

"Many thanks for your help and counsel. You offer great service and it is appreciated."

Thanks, Dave Yorks, O'Malley Gallery & Gifts

"They know their business, are friendly and make every effort to meet my PC needs. I can always reach someone and they're located in town. I've referred many friends to REAC and they've been very pleased with the service."
